How to use this on-demand content mapping document

Last Updated: June 2026, Next Update: October 2026

Project management is evolving rapidly as organizations navigate digital transformation, AI adoption, and increasingly complex business environments.

Today's project professionals need a modern mix of leadership, strategic, technical, and business skills to drive successful outcomes.

To support these evolving workforce needs, LinkedIn Learning has curated PMI-aligned learning pathways mapped to the updated PMBOK® Guide – Eighth Edition domains and key project management competencies.

Learners can also explore Introducing the PMBOK® Guide—Eighth Edition, a featured course led by Cyndi Snyder Dionisio, which highlights some of the most significant changes introduced in the latest PMBOK8 update and the evolving approaches shaping

As a PMI Authorized Training Partner (ATP), LinkedIn Learning offers a broad library of PDU-eligible project management learning designed to support ongoing professional development and workforce upskilling initiatives.

This resource helps organizations:

- Align learning to modern project management competencies
- Support project management capability development at scale
- Quickly discover curated, role-relevant PM learning content
- Upskill project managers across key business and delivery functions

Our curated learning pathways are also organized across three capability-based learning levels:

- Foundations
- Practitioner
- Advanced Leadership
